VOLUME SIX NUMBER 56

BASSANO, ALBERTA, Thursday August 17th, 1944.

License number 727154

A ringing declaration of faith in the future of Canada marked from the King's parliamentary response to congratulations upon his 25th anniversary as leader of the Liberal party. After more than 17 yrs as prime minister, Mr. King expressed a courageous and optimistic view of postwar conditions in the dominion and predicted that Canada will rapidly and increasingly become a more important power in international affairs. Centred in the great testimonial dinner to him at Ottawa, similar affairs were held throughout Canada to mark the occasion. Congratulations poured in from all of the dominion.

from Churchill, Roosevelt, Cerdell Hull and other statesmen outside Canada. Once again the prime minister asserted that national interest not political strategy or advantage, will govern the time of the next federal election.

E.I.D. NOTES

To set aside Grazing Areas for Farmers

A special meeting of the Board of Trustees of the E.I.D. was held on June 27th for the purpose of discussing policy in connection with grazing lands.

It was decided that certain areas in different parts of the district would be set aside as grazing reserves for sheep and cattle of irrigation farmers.

In order to be in a position to deal intelligently with the question accurate information as to the number of farmers requiring such pasture and the numbers of sheep and cattle to be accommodated is needed and steps are being taken to obtain this information. After the facts are obtained the matter will be finally dealt with.

Farmers interested in this plan should send complete details published in another column on this page and apply in writing to one of the District officials or to the EID office in Brooks.

Must Apply in Writing for grazing reservation

It is the intention shortly to set aside certain areas of grazing land in the EID to be reserved for community reserve during the season of 1945 whether or not he is now a member of any grazing association must make application, in writing to the head office of the District before Sept. 1st next, stating the number of head of sheep and cattle he so wishes to pasture.

Application should be made on forms which will be provided for the purpose and which may be obtained through District officials or an application to the head office.

and Blockschmidt entertained with music on the violin and piano, and Miss Ruth Brown, with a piano solo and encore. A very dainty lunch was served. Afterwards Mrs. E J Bell, in behalf of all the friends presented Mrs. Nelson with a large hand painted wooden tray, a pickle dish and a souvenir spoon, from Hussar friends. As Mr & Mrs Nelson plan to be leaving Hussar this fall, the ladies felt that this may be the last birthday for Mrs. Nelson that they may be able to help her celebrate; they expressed their

PASSING And The PERMANENT HARDWOOD from PINE TREES

One of the most unusual stories in American industry is the discovery by the du Pont Company of a way to give soft pine wood the strength and beauty of hard maple, reports John Craddock in Behind the Scenes in American Business. Inexpensive and available chemicals in a water solution are impregnated by pressure into the wood. In several hours soft woods are made to resemble hard woods that take nature a hundred years to grow. Color may also be imparted permanently. As a result, a thousand types of trees, for which at present no practical uses have been found, lately because of their softness, will be covered available to industry.

What a marvelous illustration of the power of the Holy Ghost, which is able to "transform" characters like Peter, the man who denied his Lord, into fearless Pentecostal witnesses who, like the Spirit-filled Peter, can be used to the salvation and blessing of thousands of souls.

A 'CITY FATHERS' BIBLE CLASS

Every Thursday meeting at 7:45 a group of some thirty city officials of San Francisco are meeting at a hotel to study their pocket Testaments, reports Time. Included are seven Presbyterians, seven Roman Catholics, and other Protestants of assorted denominations. Mayor's administrative assistant, David Lewis, says: "We are taking up Romans because that Book is an exposition of the law of a Christian. There are some attorneys in the group and we decided to start there. It is a thoroughly going-over of self-concept and pride."

Recently it was City Supervisor Edward Manuao's turn to read a chapter and explain to his colleagues what it meant to him. It was Chapter 7, which concerns original sin, and it precipitated a warm discussion. "Municipal Judge Daniel Shoemaker contended that from the legal point of view a person is innocent until proven guilty, that therefore a newborn baby cannot be sinful."

"We do not know whether all the conclusions reached by these laymen (no persons are invited) are orthodox, but we do know that if these politicians and lawyers study the Scriptures with open hearts the Holy Spirit will be able to lead them into the light of the true gospel."

AMERICA'S DRINK BILL

The U.S. Department of Commerce has issued an official estimate of the national expenditures for alcoholic beverages during the year of 1943. It is $6,083,000,000, which means that 4 per cent of the national income went for liquor.

Students in GERMANY

Reliable reports from inside Germany, as quoted by the World Student Christian Federation, say that there are only two groups of students now studying in German universities, medical students, and soldiers who have been discharged because of wounds. Theological students are growing scarce under the ruling requiring all new students at the universities to join the Nazi party, and the Nazi ruling that students sit at a 15-minute may not suit theology.

A Jewish Refugee's DISCOVERY

Because of the anti-Semitism of the Nazis, the United States has been presented with a valuable new metal process to help win the war. The discoverer is Dr. Paul Schwarzkopf Born at Prague, he fled from Europe in 1938, set up a laboratory in Yonkers, N. Y., and developed a new metal, plastic steel, essential for field telephones used by the armed services. According to Jewish Migration Magazine, a War Department representative said that this Czech Jew's process may revolutionize the whole industry and called the new discovery a truly national asset.

Gog and Magog

Seldom do Jewish newspapers make reference to Bible prophecy, but recent events have turned the thoughts of the editors of The Jewish Voice to Ezekiel's prophecy. He writes: "Who will doubt Bible prophecy after this? Let those who try to twist the Bible upon my sayings. In the letter of Ezekiel is wrong and this could not have been so, say what they will. We know, we of this generation, little prone to the battle going on today is the very battle of Gog and Magog. D-Day means simply that all forces are now combined for the total victory against Gog and Magog."

A TICKET TO heaven, $40.

The Gospel Witness of Toronto, states that the bargain has been offered to all Roman Catholic parishes of soldiers overseas. The Arch-bishop of Winnipeg writes to tell them that if they simply will pay $40 their son, "if killed in action will deliver purgatory and go straight to his Maker, and be with Him for all eternity."

The Bible has a better offer yet. It offers salvation free of charge, without money and without price, to every soldier and civilian too who will repent of his sin and accept the Lord Jesus as his saviour. The price of the ticket has been paid already, and there is no purgatory to weary about. Christ Himself will purge you from your sin by His precious blood, the moment you accept Him. Heb. 13:13, 14:14

Do Jews Control the RADIO?

Anti-Semites would have us believe that Jews control the radio and other agencies in America that mold public opinion, but Fortune Magazine has given figures to prove that this is not so.

There are four national radio chains. Only one could be considered as under Jewish control.

As to directors: The National Broadcasting Company, which operates two chains, has 12 directors. Only one is Jewish. The Columbia Broadcasting System has 13 directors, of whom 3 are Jewish. The Mutual Broadcasting System has 8 directors, of whom only one is Jewish.

As to executives: The NBC chain has a ratio of 20 Gentile executives to one Jew. The CBC has a ratio of 10 Gentiles to 1 Jew. The MBS has a ratio of 8 Gentiles to one Jew.

HITLER'S Dream PALACE

"Five years ago," Thies Lang reminds us, "Adolph Hitler's dream child, the immense new Reich Chancellery in the heart of Berlin was dedicated by the Fuehrer with the remark that it 'will outlast many centuries.' ## IS IT TRUE?

Today as always men are on the lookout for something that is new. Industrialists spend millions of dollars in laboratories, manufacturers employ highly paid research experts; even governments experiment with new ways and methods—in an effort to do over something new, some better way to make things, or some cheaper way to produce them.

This feverish research has been confined to the industrial world. It has characterized men in his intellectual and philosophical pursuits as well. We read in the Word of God: "All the Athenians and the strangers resorting there spent their time in nothing else, but either to tell or to hear some new thing." But new things are not necessarily true things; neither are old things necessarily false and false. A thing may be new and false; it may be old and true.

One of the oldest convictions which man has believed is that of the good news of the grace of God. It is written: "This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners."

That was written more than 1900 years ago; so it is old. But it is as true just the same. "This is a faithful saying," that is, it is true saying. It can be believed with absolute certainty that the belief is well-founded. And, as if it were assured, the writer goes on to say that it is "worthy of all acceptance." That is, it is worthy to be fully received, to be completely trusted, to be depended upon without reservation or hesitation.

And what is this true saying? It is that "Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners." He didn't come simply to show them what to do. He didn't come simply to teach them what to believe; He came to save sinners.

Who are sinners? YOU are a sinner; I am a sinner; all men are sinners. We read: "All have sinned and come short of the glory of God." Not a man or a woman in all the world has ever measured up to what God expects. We have all failed; we have all sinned.

But what does it mean to be "saved"? It means far more than we usually think. It means:

a. To be related to God, to become His child, to have our sins forgiven. "As many as receive Him," we read, "to them give He the right to become the children of God." So, salvation is, first of all, a matter of relationship. It begins when we enter the family of God—when we become related to Him.

b. But also, it is a matter of fellowship with God. To His child God gives the privilege of living and walking day by day with Him so that the sins which are forgiven are not repeated. To be saved is to live with God that new power flows into us and a new life is manifested through us.

c. And, too, it is a matter of ultimate likeness to God. As we walk with Him, we become more and more like Him. "Beholding the glory of the Lord, we are transformed into the same image, from glory to glory, even as from the Lord the Spirit."

Salvation, then, covers our past, our present, and our future. And this is the work which Christ Jesus came into the world to do. He came to save sinners.

It will be a tragic thing if, after making available to you this glorious possibility, you refuse to receive it. This is a faithful saying. It is old, but it is true, and it is worthy of your full acceptance. It may God enable you to accept it.

mbol of Nazi Germany was almost totally destroyed. It had outlived exactly four years and fifty-one weeks.

And Hermann Goering had boasted that bombs never would fall on Berlin. In fact he declared that if the Luftwaffe failed to keep enemy bombers away from Berlin, he would change his name to Meyer!

From Sinai To Calvary

A thrilling story of a Jewish youngster who was taught to hate Jesus and how he became inspired of a believer in Christ. Related by himself.

By Abraham Silverstein

"The very first thought that came to me upon this question, was to stand up manfully and politely. I may say out of it. But when I had to look into the kind face, smiling up at me, I simply could not lie, that's all. It was the kind of a person and the kind of a face, in the presence of which one simply had to tell the truth, no matter what the consequences.

I told her what happened, how happened how my sister grabbed the book from me and destroyed it. My embarrassment at such a thing was so real that I did something I would have done under any other circumstances. I offered then and there to pay for the book my sister had destroyed.

"No, my young friend, you do not have to pay for it. Here, I will give you another one. But this time, you must be wise and not show it to your sister, nor tell her what you have come back here. I know all she said, for others have said the same things and I know how the poor man feels, and I do not blame her, but she is prejudiced just like all these young men here, who spoke, had at one time, but, after you have read this book, alone by yourself, and thought the matter over, your opinion will have some value which I am now unable to point out to you. Promise me that this time you will read it and not tell anyone about it until you come back next Sunday."

"But I cannot come back next Sunday, Miss Bunte. I work next Sunday, but I will surely be here the Sunday after."

She looked and when I told her that I had a job on Sundays too, and detained me to tell her of my work. I told her. She sent me an eager and interested hearing and expressed her deep sympathy for me and hoped, she said that soon another job would be found that would give me a better break than the one I was having just then.

I did not tell my sister of the book I had in my pocket she never asked me so I did not have to even lie to her. From that time I went to Braunstein's classes.

When I got home again, that is, to the place that I then considered of my home, I went upstairs to go to bed and as it was my custom

"Except the Lord build the house they labor in vain that build it: except the Lord keep the city, the watchman waketh but in vain." Psalm 127:1

Revise Prices of POULTRY

Minor revisions in wholesale prices of turkeys, geese and ducks, now effective, are designed to ensure better distribution of poultry, the WPTA announces. Existing quotations for chickens and fowl remain unchanged.

November and December wholesale for turkeys, geese and ducks will be reduced by one half cent per pound in British Columbia and the Maritime Provinces will be increased half a cent a pound during the same period.

Ceilings in the Prairie Provinces remain unchanged. The revised prices will encourage shipment of this poultry East, as well as West, to avoid repetition of the situation last season when there was an excessive supply of birds on the Vancouver market while eastern Canadian cities experienced a shortage.

even now, I pulled everything out of my Sunday pockets to transfer them to my working clothes, and the book came out with the rest. I looked at it for a moment and then left it on the table.

Usually, I read before going to bed. It has been my habit since childhood and even now, I can never fall asleep without first reading. There is always a book, a magazine some essay or a newspaper handy, and almost anything will do. But I always have to have something to look at and in a few minutes I would be just awake enough to turn out the light and roll over.

I glanced over to the little red book. I shrugged my shoulders, and decided that I might as well get it over with. I promised to read it and as I would read it here and now.

And thus it came that I was reading The New Testament.

As I held the little red book in my hands, the story of Jesus, as I knew it, swiftly paraded through my mind. I saw my dear mother with her little Jewish Bible in her accustomed chair telling me the story as she knew it from her people and as it has been and is being told from generation to generation. It is a story which better remain untold in this book.

I wondered as I fingered the little book, whether I was about to read the same story, or whether it would be distorted, and the lies, excuses and inventions interpolated present perhaps a story of a hero, dignified and defiled. But I determined to open it and read it.

At once I struck what then seemed to my mind a very dry and futile genealogy. I passed this on. Then came the birth of Jesus, as announced to Mary, the virgin. I smiled at that! It formed part of the story that was told me by my folks. In fact, the birth of the Jesus was the very foundation of the story and answers which punctuate the story of Jesus as known by all Jews, just as it forms the very fundamentals of the Christian religion as a whole.

A virgin, indeed! But here it was in plain print. The Christians actually believed that their Jesus was born of a pure virgin. Did any Christian really believe this absurd tale? Was it there wrong in recognizing an illegitimately born child? Why must these Christians intelligent as most of them are, resort to such absurdities? How children! Since they are not willing to acknowledge that their Christ was a bastard, they at once invent amiracle which to their minds, explains everything and makes a wrong to be right.

Such were the thoughts that impressed themselves to me while reading of the episode of Christ's birth. But then I wanted to read on. What was after was the chapters which dealt with Christ's commission to his disciples that they persecute the Jews, kill them as they were being killed in my horrid days, that is what I was after. But not knowing where to look for these commandments of Jesus, I had to simply go on reading no matter what absurdities I had to overcome.

Empty Granaries
For the first time in two years, many farmers have emptied their granaries. Now the granaries must be repaired if moisture is to be prevented from ruining the new grain. Grain needs frequently remain in empty bins must be removed and the cleaning if damage is to be avoided.

1. Repair places where rain or snow could enter. A lining of moisture-proof paper may be necessary.
2. Concrete floors often cause trouble; a covering of reinforced moisture-proof paper should be laid down.
3. Clean granaries thoroughly. Brush down walls, and sweep floors with damp sawdust. Then sprinkle hydrated lime over the floor and sweep it up to fill all cracks.
4. If granary was infested with weevils or insects last year, whitewash walls and floor a week before filling so that whitewash will dry thoroughly.
5. Fill granary to the platform, and provide for ventilation over the surface of the grain.
6. Grain harvested "tough" should be stored in small bins and turned in cold weather.
7. Locate open bins or piles on well-drained ground with two or three feet of straw under the grain. Fill grain into an even cone and cover with a cap of hay or straw; remove cap before warm weather arrives in spring.
8. Write to the local elevator agent or the Grain Research Laboratory, Winnipeg, with regard to problems in storage.
